WASHINGTON, D. C., FEBRUARY 2, 1881. BOTH ENDS MEET.

BY COLONEL CHARLEY ALEXANDER. The baby rolls upon the floor,

Kicks up his tiny feet, And pokes his toes into his mouth— Thus making both ends meet. The dog, attached to a tin pail,

Goes howling down the street, And, as he madly bites his tail,

He maketh both ends meet. The butcher slays the pensive pig, Cuts off his ears and feet, And grinds them in a sausage big-

The man who boasts that he never loses his memory may never have had any memory to lose. "Oh, woe is me," exclaimed the boy of the house in the midst of his work, "to have sawed what I have sawed, saw what I see!"

"Go away from the fire, my son; the weather is not cold." "I ain't heating the weather, I'm warming my hands," said my son. Some day or other some one will open a billiard room without a bar, and with no seats for loafers, and the first thing he knows he will make money. Mr. Dam, of the Astor House, New York, is noted

The young man who kindly stopped to assist a poor blind man afterward found that the young girl who was looking at him from the window of the house was the housemaid, and not the daughter and heiress of the proprietor. RELIGIOUS LIBERTY. Simon Wolf's Remarks at a Gathering in Baltimore. At a dinner of the Order of B'nai Berith, given in Baltimore Sunday evening, the Hon, S. Wolf spoke to the toast on "Religious Liberty" as follows: The sentiment of "Religious Liberty" is one that appeals to every man, especially to us Israelites. No race of men has suffered more in its vindication, or has given brighter or more illustrious name than ours. History and romance teems with pages illustrative of this glorious fact. So much so, in-deed, that persecution of recent dates owe their origin to the fact that we are not only the "Swiss Guard of Deity," but also the pioneers of freedom in thought and deed; the "storm petrels" of liberlism, whose flight is ever indicative of the revo lution impending in the social and political world. "thermometer" of advanced thought, whose ndications prognosticate the rise and fall of na-

The order of B'nai Berith has contributed its quota, not only materially, but intellectually, to this corps of pioneers; and when the logic of events of this century shall be garnered we will not be among the smallest of factors. It will then be seen that in an age of materialism and inventive progress the Jew stood foremost in all matters of advanced thought and exhibited all of those qualities that adorn and elevate mankind —qualities that are not the outgrowth of physical, but the patient endurance born of moral courage, based on the brotherhood of man and the Father-

To us "freedom in religion" and "religion in freedom" means all the words imply—the broadest and most liberal license. We have no thumb-screws to compel confession, no arbitrary priestnood whose Herotyped blessings are libels on our nanhood. We think and act from convictions strengthened by the culture and philosophy of our sages, and these never wavered; they stood like the bold troopers at Waterioo—they have died, but never surrendered. The lurid light of the dark ages casts a someore glow upon the present; but the present is so rich in great opportunities that the future can safely be relied on—no step to the rear. Let us hold fast to all that typifies the sentiment of our toast, "Religious Liberty."

A Dangerous Package in the Mails. Recently, while a clerk in the city post-office was handling a package which came in the mail, it accidently fell to the floor, an explosion followed, and the package was soon in a blaze. The flames were extinguished before any damage was done. At first it was thought the package contained some infernal machine, but an examination showed that its contents were some matches of a new kind, together with a quantity of chemicals with which the matches are prepared.

The package was addressed to Alfred Shucking, the German consul, by some scientist in Germany, and had, consequently, made a passage across the sea. Had the explosion occurred in the hold of the vessel in which the mail was brought over the results would probably have been very disastrous, if they did not add another to the long list of vessels which have disappeared and never been heard

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Wall Street Transactions Yesterday-Domestic and Foreign Markets.

The following observations on the transactions in the financial market yesterday, together with highest, lowest, and closing stock quotations, are furnished by the banking-house of H. D. Cooke, jr., & Co., 1429 F street, Washington, D. C.: As foreshadowed by the ragged closing last night the market opened weak and unsettled this morning, the chief dealings being in N. Y., Ontario and Western, Northwestern, and Western Union, the former, opening at 147)₂, immediately declined to 146)₂, while Northwest declined to 126 and Ontario and Western to 38. The coals were steady, and the Vanderbilts weak, the juster supposed to have been caused by the continued reports of William H. Vanderbilt's sickness. Parties interested in Ontario and Western were large buyers of its stock, and re port a favorable condition of its affairs, and that nego-tiations now on foot for a through line will be successful. Large orders for this stock have been lately filed for foreign account. Ohio Central has been well supported during the entire day, opening at 29 and clos-

The decline of the morning was followed by a rally and a continued advance in prices, which lasted up to the close, when, with one or two exceptions, stocks touched the highest prices of the day.

At the close strong parties appear to be buying, and it looks as if the bears had for the moment changed their tactics. From present indications higher prices may he expected at the opening, followed by a possible re-action. Unless something unforeseen accurs it is believed, however, by these well informed, that a general advance may be expected at no distant day, and that good stocks like New York Central and Lake Shore will see high prices.

The Bulls Strongest.

leed, I should be tempted to call the Hebrew | New York, Feb. L.—The Stock Market of yesterday was weak in the early hours and strong at the closea repetition of the "milking" process of the early days of last week. Whether all these fits of weakness and spurts of strength are the premonitory symptoms of Swedish Ladies' Quartette. the great break in prices that the chronic bears have been prophesying is the question of the hour for all who gamble in stocks. There is much to be said on either side, but undoubtedly the bulls yet have the upper hand, and it would be a dangerous market to sell short. That stocks-most of them-are very high, there is no doubt. That the winter has been a severe one upon railroads is unquestioned, and earnings are falling off. But it must be remembered that Gould and Vanderbilt have not completed their deal in the telegraph stocks yet, and that until that is done there will be the greater strength upon the bull side. The small dealers, who usually sell when stocks are weak and buy when stocks are strong, will continue to be buffeted about by the idle rumors that are set affoat from day to day; but with plenty of margins and backbone there is not much danger in holding stocks even at present prices.
